7. A REPORT ON EDUCATION PROVISION DURING LOCKDOWN, ATTAINMENT AND EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR UNACCOMPANIED ASYLUM-SEEKING CHILDREN

The Corporate Parenting Committee received a report in relation to the education provision during Covid-19 lockdown.

The purpose of the report was to provide information in respect of the education of children and young people in care during the closure of schools during the national lockdown, attainment of 2020 cohort and education provision for Unaccompanied Asylum-Seeking Children (UASCs).

The Head of Virtual Schools introduced the report and asked Members to note the contents and raise any concerns with lead officers.

The Corporate Parenting Committee debated the report and in summary, key points raised and responses to questions included:

- Members were advised at the start of the lockdown a survey was conducted to establish which children in care and young people had access to a laptop to continue their education. The Virtual Head had encouraged schools to purchase laptops using pupil premium. Laptops were also available through the DFE. It was confirmed that despite some delays with issuing laptop equipment, all children and young people in care had been allocated and could retain these indefinitely.
- The Virtual School had received confirmation from education providers over the work being allocated to children and young people in care during the lockdown. This could be evidenced through the CiC and YPs personal education plan process, which was monitored by the team. There had been challenges at the start of the pandemic such as a delay in issuing the education packs and the children's enthusiasm to learn online, however these obstacles had been overcome.
- The Virtual Head was content with the attendance results that had been achieved during the pandemic lockdown period. The Government had stated that some children and young people need to go into school during the lockdown. There had been a children's tracker which identified those who needed to be in school. Peterborough had been above the national average in attendance for CiC and YP in care.
- Recent feedback received had outlined that children had enjoyed being at home, in addition this had been shared with carers. Members were also advised that CiC would be assessed to see where the education gaps were.
- Members were advised that 3.6% children had been absent from school, which was thought to be a positive figure.
- Members were advised that successful results had been achieved for some children in care that had been placed into small social bubbles, rather than being overwhelmed by bigger classes prior to the pandemic.
- The Foster Carer Forum (FCF) representative thanked the Virtual School support during lockdown. The FCF representative also commented that the opportunity had made carers more aware of the education being undertaken by their children and the level that they were at.
- The Foster Carer Forum representative also commented that children had been able to develop relationships with teachers in a better way as a result of the Covid-19 due to the rules around smaller group numbers.

The Corporate Parenting Committee considered the report and RESOLVED (Unanimously) to note the report.

AGREED ACTIONS

The Corporate Parenting Committee agreed to note the report.

8. UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE FOR OUR CARE LEAVERS IN RELATION TO IMPACT OF COVID

The Corporate Parenting Committee received a report in relation to university experiences for care leavers in relation to the impact of COVID-19.

The purpose of the report was to update Members about the university experience for Peterborough's Care Leavers in relation to the impact of Covid-19 and what services had been put in place to mitigate these impacts. The approach had also involved pooled resources with Cambridge County Council to support Care Leavers.

The Head of Corporate Parenting introduced the report and asked Members to note the update, raise any concerns they had with lead officers and make any recommendations they felt appropriate.

The Corporate Parenting Committee debated the report and in summary, key points raised and responses to questions included:

- Members were advised that where there had been no Staying Put contract arrangement for a Care Leaver (CLs) or any other benefit support, financial support was however, provided during the lockdown period.
- Personal Advisors (PAs) had continued to provide the 'staying in touch' service to CLs during the Covid-19 lockdown period. The standard support arrangement was eight weeks; however, Peterborough had conducted these appointments on a more regular basis utilising a virtual approach. It was positive to learn that some Care Leavers had reengaged with their PAs during the lockdown period to avoid loneliness; and it was thought that engagement had increase as a result of using the virtual platforms.
- There were 23 Care Leavers in different stages of their education, however it was believed that none of the students had not passed their exams to secure a university placement as a result of the pandemic.

The Corporate Parenting Committee considered and RESOLVED (Unanimously) to note the report.

impact.

The Corporate Parenting Committee debated the report and in summary, key points raised and responses to questions included:

- The Cabinet Member for Children's Services, Education, Skills and the University complimented the team about the apprenticeship and opportunities work being undertaken.
- Members asked about the financial gap that was being experienced for the Kick Start Scheme. The Head of Corporate Parenting advised that this was a national issue and that it was difficult for Care Leavers as there was lack of support with the benefits scheme and as soon as they started working, they were responsible for their home bills. However, it was encouraged for CLs to follow their aspirations.
- The PAs contact with CLs had been valuable and using the virtual platforms was something that would stay in place, however, it would not replace a face to face visit. In addition, it was advised that the virtual platform opportunity had saved a lot of time for PAs as there was no need to travel around the country to conduct visits.
- The Assistant Director of Children in Care advised Members that there had been a change in the Children Act during the pandemic to allow certain temporary easements to services for children in care, but there were a number of continuing challenges to this. There was a statutory duty for LAs to keep in touch with young people in care and it had been anticipated that this arrangement would revert shortly. The caseloads for PAs were currently manageable, however would need to be reviewed in due course.
- Members commented that the Girl Guide association would be a good initiative to put forward as Corporate Aunts and Uncles.
- Members were advised that the service would want to be in a position to offer a choice in terms of contact for CLs with PAs. The preferred method would be achievable for some care leavers and children in care, however there was a statutory duty to ensure safeguarding, which meant that most arrangements would revert back to the provision before the COVID-19 pandemic period.

The Corporate Parenting Committee considered the report and RESOLVED (Unanimously) to note the update.

AGREED ACTIONS

The Deputy Safeguarding Lead introduced the report and asked Members of the Corporate Parenting Committee note the content and raise any queries with the lead officers.

The Corporate Parenting Committee debated the report and in summary, key points raised and responses to questions included:

- The use of technology had been successful in terms of engagement with children and young people in care. This had been important for IROs to keep relationships going.
- Members commented that the IRO role was an important one in terms of maintaining contact and delivering processes.
- The IRO team aimed to consult with all children and young people in care where possible for their pre review meetings. The data was collected in two ways as a whole cohort of children in care, and comparable data for children over the age of four. Sometimes the meetings would take place over virtual platform and this was an area that the team were trying to drive. Regularity of IRO support for families was maintained and it was rare to have to reallocate cases.

- Members complimented the IRO team in relation to the 100% success rate of children over the age of four that had engaged in their review to some degree, which informed the shaping of their care plan.
- The IRO team encouraged children and young people in care to chair or co-chair their review meetings and this helped to build up the children's confidence. This would be encouraged by asking children and young people in care to read out the agenda for their meeting. Some young people could be very vocal in their review meetings and tested the professionals at the meeting. In addition, the team planned to hold conversations with children and young people in care on how they would like their review to run and how their confidence could be encouraged further.
- Members were advised that the decrease in professional staff feedback forms was because some had lots of paperwork to undertake. In addition, it was advised that the feedback forms would only be provided if requested. Despite the drop in figures, feedback received had been qualitative and really helpful to the IRO team.
- The Chairman of Corporate Parenting Committee advised that the Children in Care Council had been invited to co-chair the informal committee meetings and that this had been very successful in terms of their growth in confidence at each meeting.
- The caseload rise outlined within the report of 50-70 had been captured over a twelve-month period and some IROs had caseloads that had fluctuated in number. Generally, the caseloads for IROs was static over the course of the year and monitoring of their cases was undertaken during the year.
- There had been a small spike of children and young people coming into care, however generally the numbers would be static within five to ten cases. The IRO service was very effective and all service areas for children and young people in care were scrutinised and monitored very well.
- Members commented that it was important to gain an understanding of staff caseloads to ensure their well-being, in order to continue to maintain support for children in care.

The Corporate Committee considered the report and RESOLVED (Unanimously), to note the report.
