

Overview

- Decision taken that CCS could not be supported to become a Foundation Trust
- As a consequence the commissioners of CCS services need to decide where in future we wish to commission these services from
- After CCS services for adults and older people the largest remaining group of services are for children and young people
- The commissioners concerned have been working together to identify the scope of this work
- It has been decided to consider services provided by CPFT in Peterborough as well as those provided by CCS in Cambridgeshire
- At this stage CAMH services, provided by CPFT across Cambridgeshire and Peterborough have been excluded

Overview cont/d

- There are a number of different commissioners for these services:
- SCBU / NICU at Hinchingsbrooke – NHS England (specialised commissioning)
- Acute Paediatrics at Hinchingsbrooke and Community Child Health – CCG / LCGs
- Health Visiting – NHS England (LAT)
- School Nursing – Local Authorities (Public Health)

Overall Programme Vision

- Integrated care pathways between different initiatives and organisations so that resources are focused in where there is greatest need, opportunities for early intervention are maximised and duplication minimised.
- The starting point is how the service is experienced by the child, young person or family – not based around the system, professionals or institutions or the location of services. The aim is improved integration of care as experienced by the child, young person and family.'

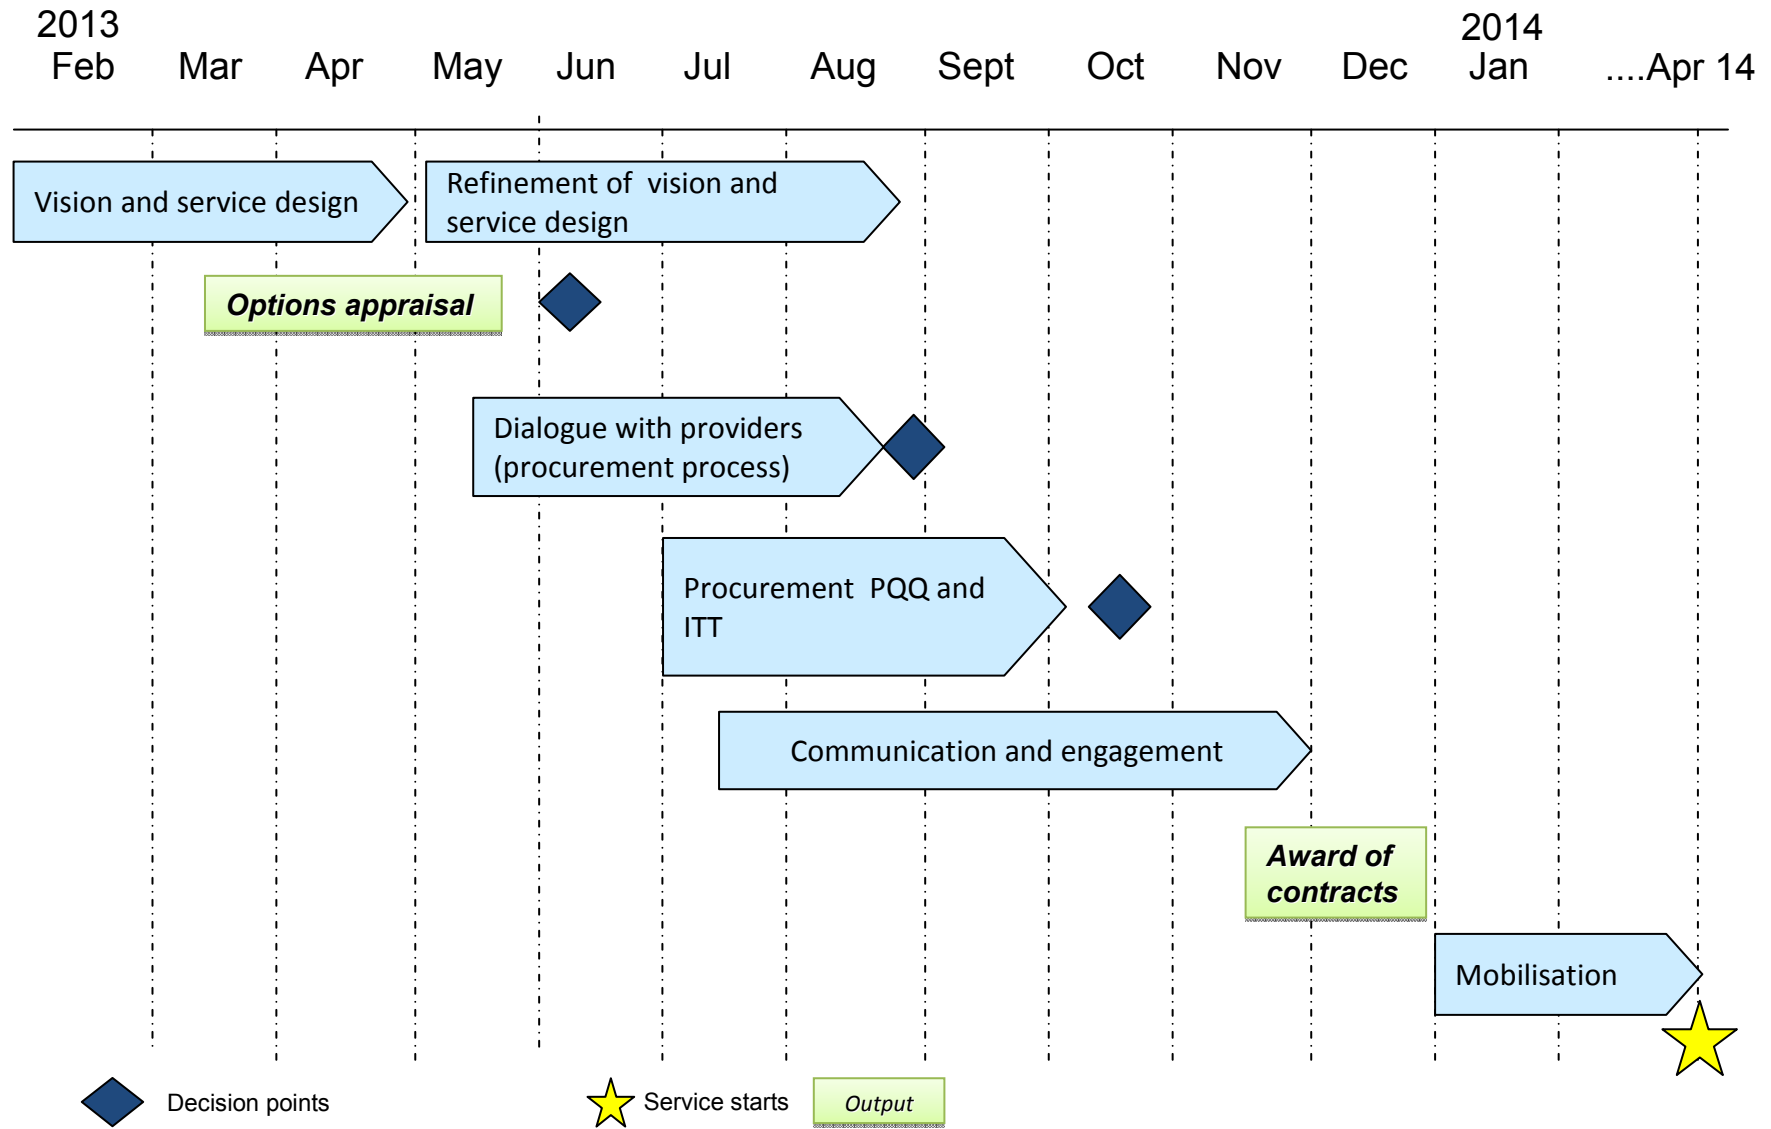

Overall Programme Vision cont/d

These initiatives if applied consistently and effectively have potential to make real inroads into supporting all vulnerable children and young people and so address inequalities:

- Well planned, evaluated PSHE, Healthy Schools and Healthy Further Education
- The School nursing development programme
- Parenting programmes
- The troubled families initiative
- The Family Nurse Partnership
- Children's centres

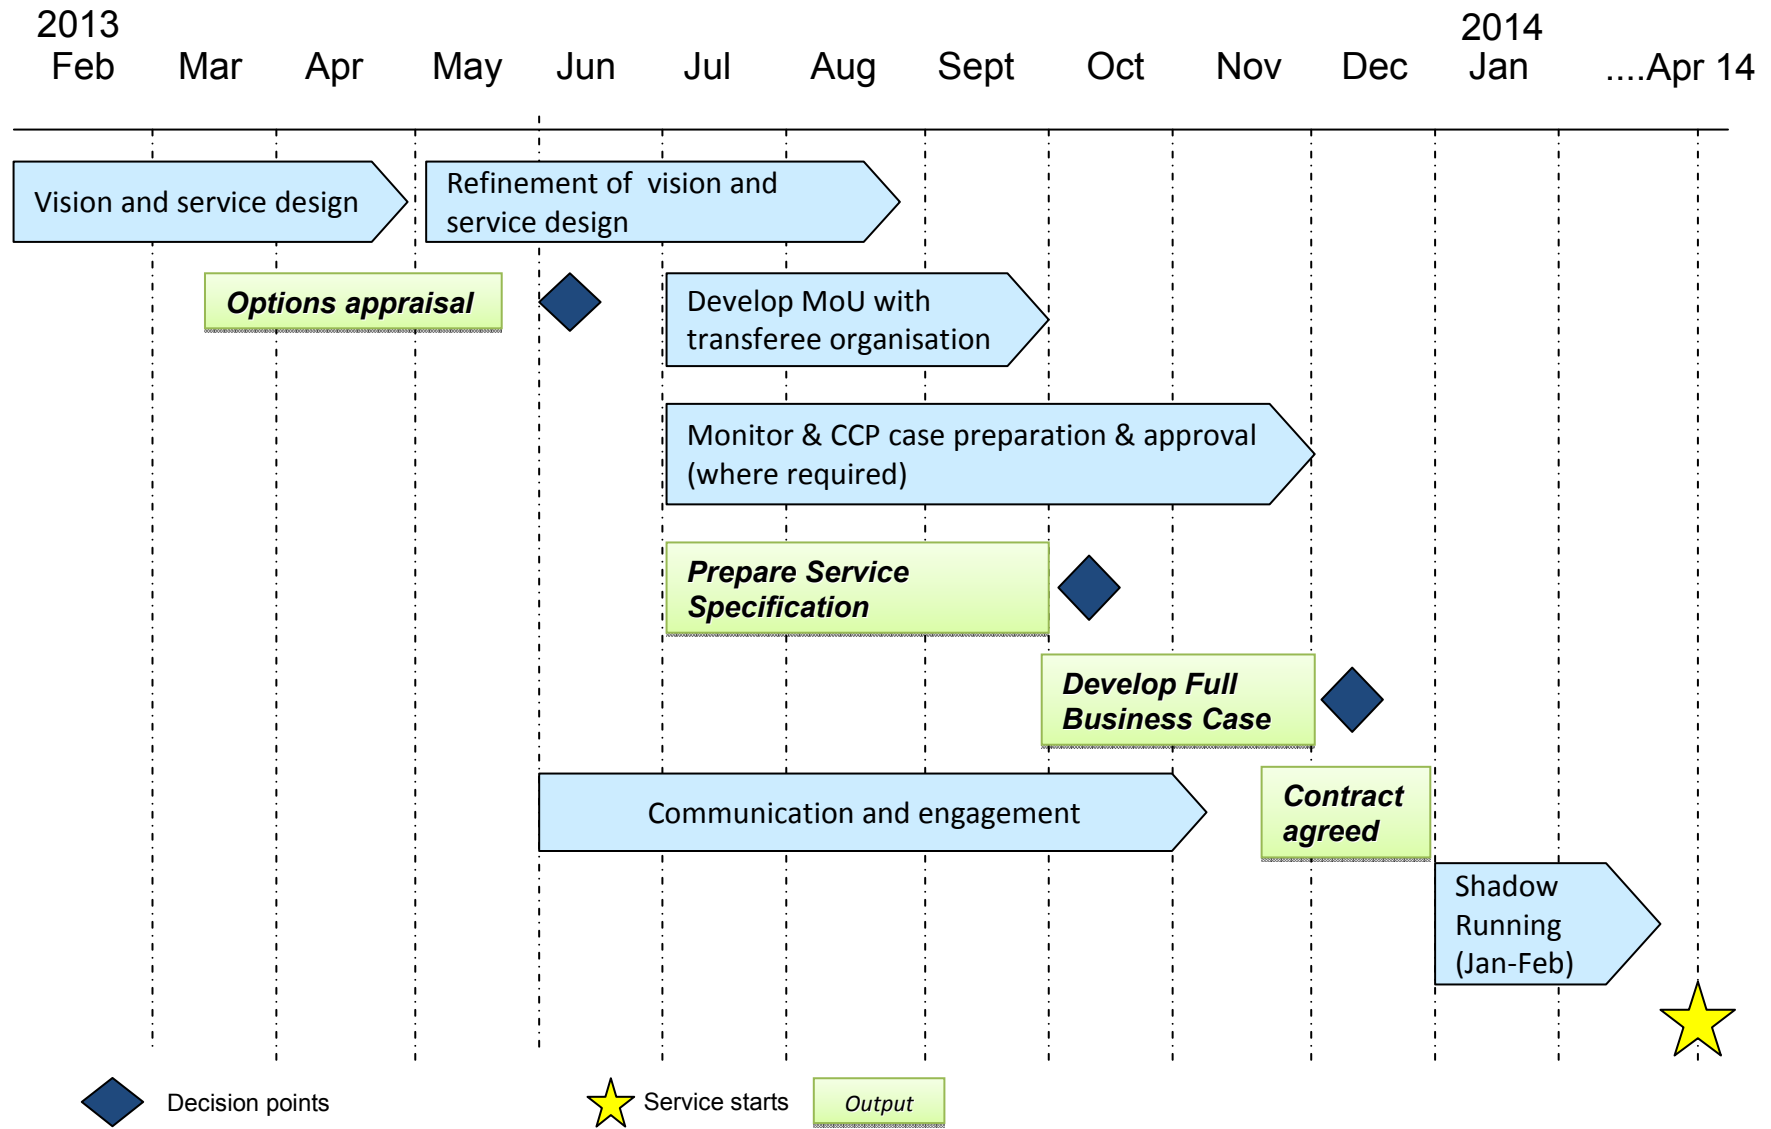

•In addition, health inequalities are also observed in SEND and LAC children and programmes aiming to further improve pathways and integrated working have the potential to support these children and young people and address long term health inequalities.
